

How wonderful to not be constantly annoyed by unwanted telephone solicitations. To know that I can have dinner in peace, relax in my easy chair, enjoy my favorite TV show, enjoy the company of friends or read a good book without having the telephone ringing by a relentless solicitor. When what you are doing is interrupted by one of these calls, you feel absolutely abused.